A note from NCPP's Executive Director & Managing Director

Dear Readers,

This September is bringing more changes than the normal seasonal transition. For many, returning to the classroom for the start of a new academic year means meeting students through the computer screen for the entirety or the start of the term. Many city and state governments are already questioning how service delivery will continue, or change, through the fall and winter due to budget challenges brought on by the ongoing pandemic. Necessary societal discourse on racial justice and politics also persists, heightening the unmistakable sense of urgency. Despite the uncertainty, there are still opportunities to learn, network, and grow through creating collaborative solutions.

Suffolk University is proud to partner with the Massachusetts Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration (MassASPA) to present the Northeast Conference on Public Administration (NECoPA), the premier conference convening practitioners and scholars of public management. One of the bright spots of hosting a completely virtual conference is that NECoPA is now more accessible than ever. We are pleased to welcome presenters and participants not just from the northeastern United States, but from around the globe. We hope you will join us in November.

Sincerely,
Marc Holzer, Executive Director
Mallory Sullivan, Managing Director

Public Performance and Management Review Call for Manuscripts

Public Performance and Management Review (PPMR), the journal of the American Society of Public Administration's Section on Public Performance and Management and the National Center for Public Performance, invites manuscripts addressing a broad range of factors influencing the performance of public and nonprofit organizations and agencies (including best practices in measuring and evaluating performance, improving budget strategies, managing human resources, building partnerships, engaging citizens, and applying new technologies). More information is available online and by email.

Call for Submissions: Share your Performance Management Story

Has your agency or organization found hope to combat the pandemic through a practice or strategy? How do you consider equity when selecting performance measures? What is the role of performance management amidst the ongoing crises? Has performance management helped guide your agency's recent work? Or, has it taken a back seat during crisis response? How are you engaging with residents during this time? We invite you to share your performance story so that we can continue to learn from each other.

Annual Public Performance Conference

In case you missed it....

In order to uphold public safety and health measures in light of the Covid-19 pandemic, the conference planning committee has made the decision to postpone the 2020 Annual Public Performance to the Spring of 2021. Please stay tuned as more details are forthcoming!

Please note that previously submitted proposals will be considered for the postponed conference.
